

Pray in Good Form

Research the prayer form your group has been assigned. Then prepare to present your research to the class. Use this worksheet to assist your group in researching your topic and as a guide for your class presentation. You may refer to “Catholic Prayers and Devotions,” on pages 447–455 in The Catholic Faith Handbook for Youth, Third Edition, for examples.

The prayer form we will be presenting is _____.

Define this prayer form as accurately as possible, using your own words:

Explain all variations of the prayer form as presented in your student book and give a specific example for each. Use at least one formal prayer or an appropriate part of a prayer from “Catholic Prayers and Devotions.” Choose any other examples for the remaining variations.

Name and briefly describe a well-known example of the prayer form you are researching. The best choice is a prayer that your peers are likely to be familiar with.

Describe the type of situation in which you might choose to use this form of prayer. Give several examples and explain why this type of prayer would be appropriate.

Has anyone in your group used this prayer form before? How might you be more likely to use it in the future after researching it?
